PREAMBLE

I. Mission

The University of Tennessee's Department of Anthropology is a community of scholars, students, and staff that approaches anthropology from an integrative, contextual, and interdisciplinary perspective that considers all facets of human lives, experiences, and societies;

nurtures an environment of empathy, compassion, and respect for multifaceted human experiences and relationships across space and time;

creates an academic environment of intellectual and emotional growth, curiosity, and reflexive engagement; and fosters an inclusive environment in which everyone has the opportunity to thrive.

We reach these goals through critical inquiry and rigorous investigation, engaged teaching and active mentorship, ethical research and professional practice, and accountability to the communities with whom we work, in Tennessee and beyond.

THE UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE
DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY

Department Handbook

Adopted May 07, 2020
Amended May 11, 2022

INTRODUCTION

This Handbook contains material that applies to all faculty and academic staff members in the Department of Anthropology at The University of Tennessee. As a governance document, this Handbook is intended to be a general summary of policies and guidelines referenced in the Department of Anthropology Bylaws. When official university policies and procedures are changed by the College of Arts and Sciences, the Provost, or the Board of Trustees or other duly constituted authority, such changes become effective on the date designated at the time of their adoption and supersede any conflicting or inconsistent provision in this Handbook.

ANNUAL PERFORMANCE AND REVIEW (APPR) PROCEDURES

As specified in the Departmental Bylaws, APPRs occur at the direction of the Department Head, as specified by the Faculty Evaluation Calendar. Procedures for APPRs are provided in Articles IX and X in the Bylaws.

The order of events for annual reviews are:

- 1) Faculty complete and submit a Faculty Annual Evaluation Report (FAER).
- 2) The Department Head evaluates the FAER in the context of 1) rank-specific criteria set out in the sections below, and 2) other performance-related considerations that, at the discretion of the Department Head, are relevant to the assessment.
- 3) The Department Head shares each FAER, including evaluation ratings and the Progress and Performance Narrative, with the PARC for their review. Policies for the PARC review process are specified in Articles II and X in the Bylaws.
- 4) The Department Head meets with each faculty member individually to discuss the faculty member's goals for the previous year and accomplishments during the Evaluation Period, and to formulate goals for the faculty member for the coming year. The Department Head shares the evaluation scores and the Progress and Performance Narrative with the faculty member in the course of this meeting.
 - a. At the request of the faculty member, a university Ombud may be present at the conference between the faculty member and the Department Head.
 - b. The Department Head may adjust their ratings based on the content of this discussion.

APPR CRITERIA FOR TENURE-LINE FACULTY

The following descriptions serve to advise the Department Head and the Performance Assessment Review Committee (PARC) in their annual evaluation of the performance of tenure-line faculty members. Criteria are listed by academic rank. These should be adjusted according to an individual faculty member's agreed-upon workload for the evaluation period (see Article VII in the Department Bylaws for general expectations of workloads for all tenure-line faculty).

Per the guidelines provided by the Provost: “Areas to be evaluated and rated are (1) teaching, (2) research/scholarship/creative activity, (3) service, and (4) overall performance. In each area, the Department Head rates faculty performance [...] relative to expectations for his or her rank, based on previously established objectives for that faculty member (including goals for the previous year and each of the preceding two years in the Evaluation Period) and Departmental Bylaws (including the department's criteria for the various ratings at the different ranks).”

As explained in Article X the Departmental Bylaws, these criteria will be used to determine annual faculty performance on the University’s five-level scale. Individual performance should always be considered over the preceding three-year period.

Note Bene: The Department recognizes that Teaching Evaluations, such as UT's End of Course (EOC) evaluation system, are biased against women and minorities. The Department Head and the PARC should take these potential biases into consideration during the evaluation process.

The Department also allows for participation at domestic and international venues to include online-based participation. Please keep in mind that this perspective does not necessarily reflect University policy and may not be shared by the College's tenure and promotion committee or the University administration.

BEST PRACTICES FOR CONDUCT OF DEPARTMENTAL BUSINESS

These best practices should guide the faculty in determining the procedures, flow, and timing of events associated with departmental business.

The Parliamentarian will coordinate all regular faculty meetings with the Department Head by:

- Calling for agenda items a week before the scheduled meeting and passing these to the Department Head.
- Consulting with the Department Head about the finalized agenda.
- Circulating the finalized agenda to the faculty the day before the scheduled meeting.
- Ensuring that meeting minutes are kept and arranging for their timely distribution.
- Arranging for the attendance of any faculty members participating remotely (i.e., by internet, phone, or video conference).

At each regular faculty meeting, the following items should be included in the agenda:

- Establishment of a quorum for voting purposes.
- Faculty votes to approve the meeting agenda and the minutes from the previous meeting.
- Directors report on research unit activities.
- Each standing committee reports on its activities and brings motions for a faculty vote.
- Ad hoc committees report on activities and bring motions for a faculty vote.
- Representatives from AGSA and the UAA are solicited for any reports.

At the first regular meeting of academic year (typically in August), ideally the following items should be included in the agenda:

- Announcement of all departmental officers and representatives.
- Announcement of standing and ad hoc committee chairs and council liaisons. For the Bylaws, Budget Oversight, and Curriculum Committees, this is typically the individual in their final year of service on that committee.
- Announcement of continuing memberships on departmental committees and councils.
- New committee and council members nominated as a slate by the Department Head and voted on by the faculty.
- The Department Head presents the final annual budget approved by the College to the faculty.
- The Department Head presents their principles and reasoning behind general salary recommendations to the faculty.

Before the end of fall semester:

- Department Head solicits need for temporary teaching positions during next academic year to be included in proposed budget request.
- All Directors and Academic Staff provide faculty with a report of the previous and projected activities for the year.
- Curriculum Committee solicits course lists from subdisciplines and set schedule for next fall semester course offerings. Summer and mini term course offerings should be solicited and planned.

At the first or second regular meeting of spring semester, ideally the following items should be included:

- Approval of new graduate admissions brought as a motion from the Graduate Committee.
- Approval of graduate assistantships for the following academic year brought as a motion from the Graduate Committee.

By the final meeting of the academic year (typically in April or early May):

- Curriculum Committee solicits course lists from subdisciplines and sets schedule for next spring semester course offerings.
- All curricular changes to be proposed to the College in the fall term should have been voted on by the Curriculum Committee and presented to the faculty at the final meeting for a vote. Note that additional changes may be proposed and presented to the Curriculum Committee in August for a vote, though this should be kept to a minimum.
- The proposed annual budget should have been voted on by the Budget Oversight Committee and presented to the faculty at the final meeting for a vote. The Department Head submits the approved proposed budget to the College.
- Approval of Graduate Student annual evaluations brought as a motion from Graduate Committee.
